2010 has been a building year for the Texas Star Gaits. With the death of horses, selling of some and new horses coming on board, we, as a team, decided we needed to regroup, rebuild and give our horses (as well as ourselves!) an opportunity to learn more about riding, get our horses trained better to do better precision work and enjoy our animals more. Our group is not just a drill team. It is a bond of friends, new and old. We have not only learned about our horses and how to be a team, but about how we can be there for each other no matter what--a true sisterhood we rejoice in.

This year we have not only ridden our horses in exhibitions, but down the trail a lot, getting them use to a myriad of different things—"desensitizing" them, if you will. Not only that, but we plan day trips to go shopping or just to go check out a new animal for someone. We have gone to Aubrey to learn how to make our gaited horses gait better, sometimes for the weekend, sometimes just for the day—and during that time, spend a little time at the tack stores to see if there might be anything we are missing or need in the way of tack!!

This fall, our group will be hosting a clinic weekend and we are inviting people that would like to learn about gaited horses and those that ride gaited horses to join us for this fun-filled weekend. Our horsemanship coach, Rachel Richards, from Valley Mills, TX, will be on hand to help all of us learn how to ride correctly and how to get our horses to learn different maneuvers easily with our horsemanship skills. Please come and join us for this fun-filled weekend.

This is an open invitation to any of you that would be interested in coming to ride a gaited horse, return to ride with our group or want to join our group and ride in a gaited drill team.

Bring pens for your animals. There will be a small covered arena to use as well as a conference room for discussions. After riding, there is a swimming pool available for relaxation Friday and Saturday night.

There will be no charge for this weekend. Just need a count of those coming to make sure we have enough food on hand to feed everyone.
